MACDONALD'S

ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Four Thousand Cities, Towns, and Villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetter, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

PRESS OPINIONS (1900 Edition).

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is deveted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Daily Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to c'aim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its porportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose husiness is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of nowards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co, Ltd., have reissued their "English Directory," amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 3000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to speak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of orreat care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"MACDONALD'S ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER" FOR 1900.—We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact. we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident eare with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the con-tents completely up to date. The suctents completely up to date. cess of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Lverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messra William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ire-. . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for ago a handsomery-to-ind referring to the large at popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.
The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to mer-chants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

It is a desirable work of reference in business centies, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, ship-pers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mall

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

Macdonald's Scottish Directory.—The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotsman

The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the mformation. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Dally Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer portion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Scotland alphabetically arranged, logether with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Dally Record

Macdonald's Scottish Directory.—
Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd.,
Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain,
have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . Above all, the paper is fan superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stontly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

The edition for 1900 of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Sculand, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evoning News

"Macdonald's Scotlish Directory and Gazetteer" as altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evoning Times (Glasgow) This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

Macdonald's Scottish Directory.—
Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work— a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

MACDONALD'S

ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and-contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Four Thousand Cities, Towns, and Villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, ros.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

PRESS OPINIONS (1900 Edition).

Leicester Dally Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is deveted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Dally Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its perpertions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are heautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of nowards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co, Ltd., have reissned their "English Directory." amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 3000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must have cost a great amount of labour, not to speak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of great care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900.—We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth. the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact, we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Beifast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident eare with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Lverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdenald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ire-. . well revised and more nseful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of . . . The work has been Ireland. thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, amproved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

The book is calculated to he very valuable for reference to mer-chants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will he particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto-looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres. The work reflects much credit on the care, in-dustry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the husiness public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

MACDONALD'S

ENGLISH DIRECTORY AND GAZETTEER.

ACCOMPANIED WITH MAP AND TOWN PLANS.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Four Thousand Cities, Towns, and Villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

PRESS OPINIONS (1900 Edition).

Leicester Daily Mercury

The Directory embraces the whole kingdom, and has apparently been prepared with great care. It is thus invaluable in the office, and it is so bound that reference to any town or county is quite easy. The first volume is deveted to cities, and the second to counties, and there are maps which add considerably to the utility of the work. We commend it to the notice of business and professional men.

Western Daily Mercury (Plymouth)

The issue of this well-known and deservedly popular volume marks quite an event in many business houses, so accustomed have they been to rely upon its regular appearance, and so implicitly is it trusted to supply the right information at the right moment. Such an exhaustive list of names and addresses entitles the great Scotch house to claim, as they do claim, for this publication that it is the largest directory in the English language.

Dundee Advertiser

This is the only trades directory which embraces all England. Last year its norportions were such that the publishers had to arrange for the present edition being in two volumes. These are very large, but they are beautifully arranged, the side index in varied colours, enabling the user to turn to any town in a moment. Business circles should find the volumes invaluable.

The Scotsman (Edinburgh)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer," an enormous book in two volumes, which gives a usefully arranged and carefully edited trades directory of the whole of England. It has already its established place in the counting-houses of manufacturers and merchants whose business is wide, and the present edition calls for no other remark than that it brings the information of the book well down to date.

Glasgow Herald

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900. It consists of two huge volumes—the addition of over 800 pages having rendered such a division necessary—and contains an immense amount of information, carefully collected and conveniently arranged in classified lists. It deals with the professions, trades, and businesses of unwards of 4000 cities, towns, and villages in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands, and is practically equal to a whole shelf-full of local and county directories. The two volumes together cost four pounds.

The Daily Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd.. have reissued their "English Directory." amended and extended to include the latest information. The book, which is now in two volumes, each of over 2000 pages, is a guide to the places of business of all England, and must bave cost a great amount of labour, not to speak of money, in compilation. The whole publication bears evidence of creat care having been expended upon its preparation.

Citizen (London)

"Macdonald's English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900.—We are pleased to welcome a new edition of these most useful volumes. It certainly is one of the most complete directories we have yet seen, its over 6000 pages being replete with information simply invaluable to the business man. The usefulness of the volumes are further enhanced by the addition of a gazetteer. Printed on capital paper and bound in red cloth, the volumes make a imposing addition to the commercial bookshelf; in fact, we would advise Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels with such an important Richmond in the field. The volumes, we understand, are unique in their conception, being the only ones of the kind published. We have no doubt that they will receive the support that they deserve.

The Northern Whig (Belfast)

The "English Directory and Gazetteer" for 1900 is a large work in two very large volumes, and represents a great amount of well directed and well organised labour. That it should be so will be self-evident from the statement that it is the only trades' directory which embraces the whole of England. There is also a very comprehensive Gazetteer. The volumes are strongly bound, and are printed in exceedingly good style. The evident care with which it has been drawn up adds, of course, greatly to its high value.

Indispensable to every Counting-House, Library, Club, and Hotel Commercial Room.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Lverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

... The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this nseful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Ireland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Ireland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, improved, and brought thoroughly up to date, and as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

. . . The book is calculated to be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgow and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Drectory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendions alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mail

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought out. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strongly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

Do. British Subscribers, - 2 10 0 Nett, Carriage Free.

No Money will be received for the Directory until delivered.

THIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at £2, 10s.—a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades Directory of London, and over Two hundred and twenty Suburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as under. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

The Second Volume gives Local Trades Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in Wales, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the ISLE OF MAN and the CHANNEL ISLANDS, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY .-The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have heen added to this edition. All possible justice is done from the theory of distart parts of Scot. even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scotsman

The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Dally Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetwhich has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Heraid

. The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a over 1000 pages, is lumished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer pertion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Sootland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date and the lists have been considerdate, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Daily Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY. Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and nuch-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetpiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

The edition for 1900 of this valuable ork has new been issued. Though work has new been issued. there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practi-cally a carefully compiled Trades' Directery for Scotland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evoning Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man re-The usefulness of the volume is enlanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

iron (Londen)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.-Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial honses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazet-teer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastie Chronicie

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled worka bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY .-The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edin-burgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this edition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scoteman

· The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of business addresses covering the whole of Scotland. Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Dally Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazet-teer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At snyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glasgow Herald

The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Gazetteer pertion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Stotland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Dally Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY. Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain, have just issued another annual and much-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is far superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

The edition for 1900 of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practi-cally e carefully compiled Trades' Directery for Scouland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland.

The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

Iron (London)

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY .-Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so hulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great care has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained. ment of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Manchester Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled worka bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.

THIS well-known Directory contains exhaustive classified lists of the Manufacturers, Traders, Merchants, Agents, and Dealers in upwards of Five Hundred Irish Cities, Towns, and Villages, besides a comprehensive Gazetteer Section, giving the location, population, and other local statistics for the Cities, Towns, Villages, and Parishes, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping Information. The usefulness of the work is enhanced by copious lists of Merchants and Traders in Liverpool and Glasgow,—the British Cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole of the information is thoroughly revised every year by a staff of qualified compilers, solely employed on the Company's Publications, and the work thus brought up to date, and printed from type kept standing (reducing errors to a minimum), is unrivalled as the Standard Directory of Ireland.

PRESS OPINIONS.

Belfast Evening Telegraph

A new Edition of this excellent Directory has been issued, bringing the contents completely up to date. The success of former editions has warranted extensive additions and improvements, while a Gazetteer has been added, thus increasing the usefulness of the book as a work of reference. A further great improvement consists in the inclusion of sections devoted to the cities of Glasgow and Lverpool—the two trans-Channel centres most in touch with the Irish ports. This is an addition which will be widely appreciated.

Scotsman

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Limited, Edinburgh, have sent out a comprehensive and carefully compiled Trades Directory of the whole of Ireland. . . . well revised and more useful than ever to business men.

Glasgow Herald

. . The new edition has been thoroughly revised and brought down to date. . . A section is devoted to directories for Liverpool and Glasgow, the business relations of these cities being considered sufficient reason for this useful addition to a very valuable reference book.

Edinburgh Evening News

The extensive business relations between Scotland and Ireland justify a large circulation for this Directory, which is a model of careful arrangement. Sections are added, dealing with Liverpool and Glasgow firms, and those give a more general value to the Directory. The Gazetteer is a useful addition to the book.

Belfast Irish News

This well-known firm issued some time ago a handsomely-bound "Directory for Iroland" for 1897-98, which has had a great popularity. It is certainly one of the completest works of its kind ever published, and advertisers in all parts of Iroland and across Channel will find a study of it of the greatest advantage for business purposes. It is clearly printed and splendidly bound.

Dundee Advertiser

. . . A practical and carefully compiled trades directory for the whole of Ireland. . . The work has been thoroughly revised since last issue, and additional sections giving directories of Liverpool and Glasgow are now included in the volume. The book will be of great service to all trading with merchants in Ireland.

Glasgow Citizen

Several new features will be noted in this new Edition. A Gazetteer has been added, and two large sections are devoted to a trade directory of Liverpool and Glasgow, the cities which have the most extensive trade with Ireland. The whole volume has been enlarged, amproved, and brought thoroughly up to date, end as it at present stands it is an invaluable compilation for all those business men who have connection with our sister Island.

Northern Whig.

be very valuable for reference to merchants and manufacturers. Sections devoted to Liverpool and Glasgow will be particularly useful, as the trade relations of Ireland with these ports are so intimate.

Derry Journal

. . . It is a desirable work of reference in business centres, and will have considerable appreciation in that connection. The publishers have wisely included sections for Glasgew and Liverpool, and Irish traders will find this convenient. The compilation on the whole is very correct, and the arrangement and letterpress are good.

Irish Times

In the "Irish Directory" merchants and traders will find all the special information for which they have hitherto looked in vain. The book contains the most exhaustive alphabetical and classified lists of the principal merchants, traders, &c., in Irish business towns.

Freeman

Seldom has a work deserved its title better than that which we have now before us; it is, indeed, in the fullest sense, a complete and perfect "Business Directory of Ireland," comprising within its pages compendious alphabetical and classified lists of all the principal manufacturers, merchants, shippers, and traders in all the chief cities, towns, and trade centres The work reflects much credit on the care, industry, and patience employed by its compilers.

Morning Mall

We have nothing but praise for the arrangement of the compilation and the excellent taste with which the volume is brought ont. We believe that such a work is one that must appeal strengly to the business public of the whole Kingdom, or that part of it having commercial dealings with Ireland.

HIS comprehensive Publication is the largest Directory in the English Language, and contains the Names and Addresses of more Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Shippers, Brokers, Agents, Dealers, and others connected with British Trade and Commerce than any other Directory issued from the Press. It includes copious and authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of upwards of Five Thousand Cities, Towns, Villages, and Localities in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands. Every Name considered of sufficient importance for a wholesale house to solicit custom from, being entered. The mass of information it embraces is not otherwise obtainable without an expenditure of over £40 on Local and County Directories; and as many of these are issued at intervals of several years, their information cannot be so recent and reliable as that given in a work like the English Directory and Gazetteer, which is kept standing in type (reducing errors to a minimum), and revised and printed annually, and issued to Subscribers at \pounds_2 , 10s. —a price not higher than is usually charged for the Directory of a single English County.

The First Volume of the Work consists of a Trades Directory of London, and over Two hundred and twenty Snburban Districts, giving authentic lists of the Professions, Trades, and Businesses of the Metropolis. It also contains a separate and exhaustive Trades Directory for each of the principal Provincial Cities and Towns, arranged as nnder. (Also a BANK DIRECTORY of England and Wales.)

The Second Volume gives Local Trades Directories for all Towns (excepting the above) and Villages of importance in England, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Forty Counties arranged in alphabetical order to facilitate reference; also all Towns and Villages of importance in WALES, grouped alphabetically under their various Counties, with the Twelve Counties arranged in alphabetical order. There is also the Isle of Man and the Channel Islands, and a concise Gazetteer of England and Wales, giving the location, population, and other local statistics and historical references for the Cities, Towns, Parishes, and Villages, with Postal, Telegraphic, Railway, and Shipping information.

In the course of revising the Work, every Town and Village of importance in England and Wales, the Isle of Man, and the Channel Islands are visited annually by experienced Agents, solely employed by the Proprietors for the purpose of verifying, by personal application, every name appearing in the Directory. Thus every effort that can possibly be made by a large and efficient staff of compilers is put forth ungrudgingly, and regardless of trouble and expense, to bring the information up to date, and to ensure the correctness of the work.

THIS popular Directory contains classified lists of the Manufacturers, Merchants, Traders, Agents, and Dealers throughout the Kingdom, and embraces over One Thousand Three Hundred Scottish Cities, Towns, and Villages. Each is annually canvassed personally by competent Agents, solely employed on the Company's Publications. The type is kept standing, thus reducing errors to a minimum. In the Gazetteer Section brief notices are given of the Cities, Towns, Parishes, Villages, and other territorial divisions in the Kingdom. Some idea may thus be formed of the labour and cost of collecting and arranging the information, and of the utility of the Work as a reliable Book of Reference.

PRESS OPINIONS.

The Times

Macdonald's Scottish Directory.—
The work which Messrs Kelly have done so long and so successfully for London, and for England and Wales, Messrs Win. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., Edinburgh, have accomplished for Scotland and for its two capitals. Many thousand names have been added to this ellition. All possible justice is done even to the most distant parts of Scotland. . . . The work is thoroughly business-like in its scope and object.

The Scoteman

The Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is a useful and well-arranged book of husiness addresses covering the whole of Scotland. . . . Much credit is due to the compilers for their enterprise and industry in collecting the information. The general arrangement of the Directory remains the same as before. . . . In this issue the work has been thoroughly revised and brought abreast of recent changes

The Dally Record (Glasgow)

Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd, the Directory and Time-Table specialists, Edinburgh, send us a copy of their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," which has been thoroughly revised to date, and now presents trade lists which will probably bear the minutest inspection as to accuracy. At anyrate, in a few rather difficult tests to which we have subjected the Directory, we have found it correct.

Glaegow Herald

. . . The Directory, which has over 1000 pages, is furnished with a general map of Scotland and plans of the leading towns. The Guzetteer pertion is a very useful feature, as it contains a list of the towns and villages of Sootland alphabetically arranged, together with brief information regarding population, &c. The book has been thoroughly revised and brought up to date, and the lists have been considerably extended

Birmingham Dally Record

MACDONALD'S SCOTTISH DIRECTORY.—
Messrs William Macdonald & Co., Ltd.,
Edinburgh, the Kellys of North Britain,
have just issued another annual and nuch-enlarged edition of their practical, useful, complete, and admirably compiled "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer." . . . Above all, the paper is fan superior to that of most publications of the kind, and the book is stoutly bound.

Dundeo Advertiser

The edition for 1900 of this valuable work has now been issued. Though there are no new features in this year's volume the arrangement is so complete that there is little left to be desired in this respect. The book is practically a carefully compiled Trades' Directory for Scouland, issued at a reasonable price. The Gazetteer gives in a concise form much topographical information, arranged alphabetically, and is most useful as a book of reference.

Edinburgh Evening News

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory and Gazetteer" is altogether astonishingly comprehensive. The volume is first of all practical, and has been carefully compiled. Since the last edition was issued the Directory has undergone a complete revision, and many new names have been added. . The arrangement of the book is good, and it is sure to be of service to business men and the public generally. The index is clear and complete.

Evening Times (Glasgow)

This is one of those bulky volumes which no well appointed office, hotel, or public institution can afford to be without. . . . It contains all the information which a business man requires in a Directory of Scotland. . . . The usefulness of the volume is enhanced by an appended Gazetteer, which gives the leading facts about every city, town, and village in Scotland. It is clearly printed on good paper, and strongly bound in red cloth.

iron (London)

Macdonald's Scottish Directory.— Messrs Wm. Macdonald & Co., Ltd., occupy in Scotland the position filled by Messrs Kelly & Co. in England, and their "Scottish Directory and Gazetteer," although necessarily not so bulky as the "London Directory," will be found to be as carefully compiled.

Invention

We are very pleased to welcome a new edition of this most useful work. It will be observed that great eare has been taken in its compilation. The paper on which this work is printed is wonderfully strong and good, and the whole appearance of the Directory is such as should cause Messrs Kelly to look to their laurels. . . . In conclusion, we may say that all possible justice has been done to the subject-matter dealt with, and the general arrangement of the information contained.

Liverpool Mercury

The work of compilation of this comprehensive Directory has been ably carried out, and should be welcomed by commercial houses seeking a reliable trade directory.

Mancheeter Guardian

"Macdonald's Scottish Directory" is a useful compilation, which combines a commercial Directory and brief Gazetteer for the whole of Scotland.

Newcastle Chronicle

The present issue, which has been carefully brought up to date, and includes many thousand additional names, fully justifies the claim of the work to take a high place among publications of its kind

Leeds Mercury

A new edition has been issued of this valuable and carefully-compiled work— a bulky volume, each edition being larger than its predecessor.
